

My first Chinese word adventures

English-guided practice for little beginners

Look. Listen. Say. Play.

Use your printed cards with the listening app.

One short session. Three new words. Lots of smiles.

Name: _____

Start date: _____

Our learning routine

1. Choose the three card numbers shown on the page.
2. Tap each card in the app. Listen twice.
3. Say each word with the audio.
4. Match, trace and play the picture game.
5. Finish by showing one word you remember.

An original companion workbook based on the vocabulary and listen/match/practice structure visible in the supplied reference photos. It is not a reproduction of the source book. Pinyin is a sound guide; listen to the Mandarin audio for pronunciation. Stars mark practice only.

Keep it small. Keep it playful.

Use 3–5 words per session. Revisit familiar words before adding new ones. A child can point before they feel ready to speak. Reading or handwriting is not required to play.

English → Chinese: show the picture and English, listen, say, then turn over.

Matching answers

On every adventure page, Chinese words 1, 2, 3 match the English choices 3, 1, 2 respectively.

Pinyin and voices

Tone marks belong to the vowels. An unmarked syllable is often light (neutral tone). Written tones may sound different in connected speech. Follow the audio instead of reading pinyin with English spelling rules.

Next steps

Explore all 60 book words and the 24 extra cards. This starter workbook covers 36 selected words in 12 short lessons; it does not claim to cover every source-book activity.
